Overview

The Law Enforcement Review Act came into force on February 1, 1985. The first annual report covered eleven months of the calendar year. This second report covers a twelve-month period, a factor to be borne in mind when comparing statistical results between 1985 and 1986.

Staffing and funding levels in 1986 remained unchanged from 1985. L.E.R.A.'s operations followed the pattern established in the first year. Except in the case of a handful of complaints originating outside of Winnipeg and at the Manitoba Youth Centre, all complainants, respondents and witness officers were interviewed by the Commissioner. Investigators from the Law Enforcement Branch, Attorney-General's Department were responsible for locating and interviewing civilian witnesses and in some cases conducted follow up interviews with complainants. Respondent and witness officers from Winnipeg were interviewed in the presence of their legal counsel or an officer of their Association.

Whereas L.E.R.A.'s jurisdiction extends only to complaints about the conduct of members of municipal police forces, an attempt is made to provide assistance to anyone relating a problem by letter, telephone or in person. Where the matter does not involve a police concern, the complainant is referred to the proper authorities. In many instances assistance is provided by writing a letter or making a telephone call on the person's behalf. Where a complaint concerns the adequacy of police service but does not allege misconduct, the circumstances are reported to the Chief of Police in writing. A similar procedure is followed where a complaint is disqualified by the time limits imposed by the legislation. In 1986 a total of 179 citizens' representations were received, including 95 complaints accepted for investigation.

Except where a complaint is withdrawn, a detailed investigative report is completed in almost every case. This includes most of those which are dismissed by the Commissioner, and all the ones which are resolved informally or referred for a hearing of the Board. In 1986 a total of 70 detailed reports were completed.

Acknowledgements

As in the previous year, tribute must be paid to the exemplary co-operation received from the police. This applies to all police forces with which L.E.R.A. has been dealing but is particularly true of the Winnipeg Police Department which accounts for 90% of the L.E.R.A. workload. The co-operation with Chief Herb Stephen has continued to be friendly and positive, and the assistance of the Winnipeg Police Department Internal Investigation unit in providing the names of officers involved and relevant police reports has been outstanding.

Similarly the Winnipeg Police Association, through its officers and legal counsel, has continued to facilitate and support the L.E.R.A. process by assisting at interviews of involved officers. Finally, rank and file officers have for the most part freely discussed incidents involving them. This co-operation has been instrumental in the resolution of a large number of complaints.

The excellent investigative services provided by the staff of the Attorney-General's Law Enforcement Branch must also be acknowledged. Nothing is as important to the credibility of the L.E.R.A. process as the quality and timeliness of the investigations.

Workload (see Table 1)

A total of 95 new files were opened during the year, to which must be added the 26 carried over from 1985. A total of 94 case files were closed compared to 86 in 1985. Twenty-seven files were carried forward on December 31, 1986. The number of new cases has declined and the carryover is the same, an indication that the workload has remained manageable. There is a sharp increase however in the cases referred to a hearing of the board from three in 1985, to 10 in 1986. Some complaints referred to a board hearing are, however, resolved or withdrawn before a hearing actually takes place.

Law Enforcement Review Board (see Table 3)

The Board conducted six hearings during 1986 compared to one in 1985. Five of the complaints were referred to a hearing by the Commissioner and one was referred by order of the Manitoba Police Commission following an appeal of the Commissioner's decision not to take any further action. The Board dismissed this complaint as well as four of the five referred by the Commissioner. All of these complaints involved allegations of unnecessary violence and excessive force. The Board found in favour of the complainant in one complaint alleging oppressive conduct and being discourteous and uncivil. As at December 31, 1986 six additional complaints had been referred to the Board and are being scheduled for hearings in 1987.

Manitoba Police Commission

In accordance with The Law Enforcement Review Act, the Commissioner may take no further action on a complaint if he considers the allegations to be frivolous or vexatious, or if they are not within the scope of the disciplinary defaults defined in the Act. If dissatisfied with the Commissioner's decision, the complainant may appeal to the Manitoba Police Commission. In 1986, one complainant appealed to the Commission to have two officers re-instated as respondents after the Commissioner had ruled the allegations against them to be frivolous and vexatious. The Commission agreed with the complainant. The allegations against a third officer involved in the complaint had not been dismissed by the Commissioner. The Law Enforcement Review Board subsequently found in favour of all three respondent officers.

Out of the total of 43 complaints dismissed by the Commissioner in 1986, there was one further appeal to the Manitoba Police Commission. In that case too the Commission agreed with the complainant and the matter was held over for a hearing of the Law Enforcement Review Board in 1987.

Statistical Tables

Table 1. Totals for the year — 1986 figures are for a full year, compared to 11 months in 1985. With this taken into account, complaints against members of the Winnipeg Police Department decreased by 25% from 1985 to 1986.

Table 2. Type of Allegations — The number of allegations is greater than the number of complaints because some complaints involve multiple allegations.

Final Word

This is my final Annual Report as Law Enforcement Review Commissioner. This year I will retire after 29 years in Government service, the last three of which have been devoted to the inception and operation of The Law Enforcement Review Agency.

L.E.R.A. staff consists of two full-time people, Commissioner and Registrar/Secretary. Unfortunately for an orderly succession in the office of Commissioner, the Registrar/Secretary is also leaving. This leaves no continuing organization to provide experienced support to the next Commissioner.

In this type of program, the Commissioner necessarily imprints his personal style on the operation. My successor will have an opportunity to introduce new methods and improvements will ensue. At the outset, however, there should ideally be some staff continuity to ensure there is as little disruption as possible.

An internal evaluation of L.E.R.A. operations is underway by the Research and Planning Branch of the Attorney-General's Department which may recommend modifications to L.E.R.A. Meanwhile, I would like to draw attention to the following aspects of the L.E.R.A. operation which I feel ought to be placed on the record to assist a new Commissioner:

1. Staffing:

I fear that the L.E.R.A. Program will lose credibility and will atrophy unless the Commissioner can be freed of the routine inherent in a two-person office. The Commissioner needs more time for consultations with the police, legal and municipal authorities. The Commissioner should also be involved to a greater degree in public educational activities. I recommend the addition of a full-time, senior person to conduct investigations, and to share the workload with the Commissioner. It is also important to have someone available for case consultation on a continuing basis.

2. Legislation:

As in the case of any new program established by an Act of the Legislative Assembly, certain deficiencies have appeared in the first two years of operation. Proposals for amendments to The Law Enforcement Review Act have been submitted to the Minister. The most crucial of these deal with the credibility and effectiveness of hearings before the Law Enforcement Review Board. Although only a small fraction of complaints require a board hearing, public awareness of the L.E.R.A. process is concentrated on them, and eventually the program will stand or fall on how they are perceived.

3. Other Jurisdictions:

Interest in civilian oversight of law enforcement is increasing worldwide. We have been consulted by concerned provincial authorities from British Columbia, Ontario, and New Brunswick, as well as the R.C.M.P. In the fall of 1985, L.E.R.A. was a charter member in a new organization, The International Association for Civilian Oversight of Law Enforcement (IACOLE), founded at a conference in Toronto. The organization includes membership from the U.S.A., Europe, Africa, and Australia.

In 1986 the L.E.R.A. Commissioner was invited to be one of the speakers at the 2nd Annual IACOLE Conference in Miami, Florida. Unfortunately, the invitation was declined because the required Ministerial approval for out-of-Province travel was not received. Of 19 Canadians attending the conference, Winnipeg City Councillor, Terry Wachniak, was the only Manitoban. This should not happen again. I strongly recommend continued active participation by L.E.R.A. in IACOLE on behalf of Manitoba, including attendance at the Annual Conference. We are a pioneering venture conducted by a small and isolated agency. It is essential that we share information and insights with similar agencies elsewhere.

Elsewhere in this report we have acknowledged the cooperation received from various agencies and individuals. I would also like to say a word about the rank and file members, particularly of the Winnipeg Police Department. With few exceptions, they have responded forthrightly to allegations contained in complaints. They are an outstanding group of men and women who bring impressive intelligence and sense of purpose to their demanding jobs. They may tend to take themselves rather seriously, but law enforcement is not a frivolous pursuit. In their work they see people at their worst; they cannot help but develop a somewhat cynical view of society. They are preminent authority figures in an era when authority at all levels is challenged and resisted. They frequently come into conflict with groups and individuals who feel compelled to assert themselves because they feel repressed and discriminated against by society as a whole.

Some police officers resent the diminished respect for authority and increased defiance they are faced with. Others cope with it by developing their understanding of human nature and perfecting their communication skills. That, together with a high standard of conduct and the requisite skills and personal characteristics, provides the degree of professionalism that is called for in police work in today's society. The ultimate and attainable goal should be to raise policing to the dignity and status of a true profession. That will offset any loss of police prestige due to the public's diminishing subservience to authority.

L.E.R.A. can help in this process by interpreting and reflecting public perceptions to the police, and representing the case for the police to the public. Even incidents which do not lead to a formal hearing, where the complaint is either rejected or informally resolved, may contain valuable lessons for the police. On that premise, we have endeavoured to provide adequate documentation and analysis in almost every case. It is my hope that in one form or another this practice may continue in the future.

There are risks to be avoided. L.E.R.A. must never become, or even appear to be, a means of obstructing the legitimate endeavours of the police in law enforcement and crime prevention. There will always be complaints against the police, from persons charged with an offence seeking to discredit the arresting officer, and from those whose volatile disposition or state of inebriation induces them to engage in some form of quixotic provocation.

Many complainants are persons who are, or at least believe themselves to be, not guilty of any wrongdoing. Compelled by their sense of outraged innocence, they are quick to regard police action as abusive and oppressive, even if everything the officer does is justified and technically correct. L.E.R.A. has a role in promoting a greater degree of tolerance and understanding for police actions in the prevention and detection of crime. On the other hand, people would be more tolerant if the police would sometimes take time to explain their actions, or apologize for a mistake or an imposition.

A substantial number of complaints are dealt with by simply explaining the opposing parties to each other and to define the common ground between them. This aspect of L.E.R.A. comes closest to the ideal of improved police community relations. It is worth a great deal of effort, both by L.E.R.A. and the police themselves.

Above all, despite the confrontational nature of much of our association, I wish Manitoba municipal police well. I have learned to appreciate their earnest desire both to do a good job and to be recognized as doing so by their communities.

Hans J. Schneider
Commissioner

Complaint Procedures

TO THE COMPLAINANT:

This statement sets out the procedures that will be followed in dealing with your complaint and your rights under The Law Enforcement Review Act.

Who May Make a Complaint:

1. Any person who feels aggrieved by the action or attitude of a police officer may make a complaint.
2. A complaint may also be made by another person on behalf of the person affected by the incident complained about. This would most often be the case if the affected person has died, is a minor or is temporarily or permanently incapacitated from acting on his or her own behalf. Unless the affected person is under 18 years of age or is not competent to give consent, the complaint will only be proceeded with if the affected person consents in writing.

How to Make Your Complaint:

3. Your initial complaint may be made verbally or in writing to any member or the chief of the police department involved or directly to the office of the Law Enforcement Review Agency (L.E.R.A.) Commissioner at the 12th Floor, 405 Broadway Avenue (Woodsworth Building), Winnipeg, Manitoba R3C 3L6, telephone 945-8667.
4. You will be asked to complete a complaint form (Form 1). You may request the assistance of the Commissioner's office or of a member of the police department to assist you in completing this form. Before it can be dealt with by the Commissioner, a complaint must be submitted in writing and signed by the complainant.

Note: If a complaint against an R.C.M.P. officer is made to the Commissioner, it will be forwarded to the Commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. Procedures under The Law Enforcement Review Act do not apply to such complaints. They are dealt with under The R.C.M.P. Act.

Time Limits:

5. Ordinarily complaints must be submitted within 30 days of the incident leading to the complaint. Under special circumstances, where the complainant has no reasonable opportunity to meet this deadline, the Commissioner may extend the time, but to not more than six months from the date of the incident. Such special circumstances might include the complainant's absence in some remote location or out of the province or sickness or injury.
6. Where a complainant faces criminal charges connected with the incident which leads to the complaint, the Commissioner may extend the time limit to not more than 30 days after the final disposition of the charges or one year from the date of the incident, whichever is the sooner.

Who Sees Your Complaint:

7. No matter where your complaint is recorded, a copy will be sent to the L.E.R.A. Commissioner and the chief of police of the police department concerned. The police officer complained against will also receive a copy as soon as is practicable.

Investigation and Reports:

8. An investigator from the Commissioner's office may interview you, the police officer concerned and any other persons who can provide relevant information on your complaint.
9. If you prefer to have your complaint dealt with by an internal investigation by the police force concerned, you may make a written request to this effect to the Commissioner who may then decide to suspend his own investigation. He will however receive a report of the internal investigation.

Appeal to Police Commission:

10. On reviewing the results of the investigations, the Commissioner may decide that the complaint was not justified, or that the matter complained of does not constitute a disciplinary default as defined in the Act. In that case you will be informed that no further action will be taken. If you are not satisfied with the reasons for this decision, you may apply to the Manitoba Police Commission to review the matter.
11. The Commission may sustain the decision of the Commissioner or order that the complaint be proceeded with. The Commission's ruling is final.

Informal Resolution of Complaint:

12. After the Commissioner has reviewed the circumstances of the complaint, he will consult with you to determine whether the complaint can be resolved informally. An important purpose of The Law Enforcement Review Act is to maintain harmony and cooperation between police and the community. Very often this purpose is best served by mutual explanations and reconciliations.
13. Both you and the police officer concerned must agree on the way in which the complaint is to be resolved, otherwise an informal resolution cannot take place.
14. As an alternative to informal resolution, the police officer may admit to a disciplinary default and accept a penalty prescribed by the Commissioner.

Law Enforcement Review Board:

15. The Board established under the Act holds a hearing to review the complaint under the following circumstances:
  - (i) Where the Manitoba Police Commission, on application of the complainant, has overruled the decision of the Commissioner not to take further action (see Item 11).
  - (ii) Where the police officer complained against does not admit to being at fault.
16. You will be notified at least 14 days in advance of the date set by the Board for its hearing.
17. You may present your own case before the Board or you may be represented by counsel.
18. Board hearings are public except where the Board decides that they should be held in private in the interests of justice.
19. All testimony at a Board hearing is made under oath.
20. The Board is required to dismiss a complaint that cannot be proven beyond a reasonable doubt. You will be informed of the Board's decision as soon as practicable after the hearing, and if you request it, the reasons for the Board's decision.

Appeal:

21. You may appeal a decision of the Board to the Court of Queen's Bench but only on a question of the Board's jurisdiction or a question of law.

Legal Counsel:

22. You may be represented by counsel at any stage of the proceedings, including hearings by the Commissioner or the Board.
23. A Legal Aid lawyer may be provided to complainants who are financially eligible for Legal Aid. In special cases, the Commissioner may recommend provision of legal counsel at public expense where a complainant is not eligible for Legal Aid but the cost of a lawyer would represent a substantial financial hardship.

Reports:

24. During the course of processing your complaint, you will receive progress reports at least every month if proceedings take longer than 30 days and you will be informed of the final disposition of your complaint.

Further Questions:

25. If you require additional information or explanations, please apply to the Commissioner, Law Enforcement Review Agency (L.E.R.A.), 12th Floor, 405 Broadway Avenue, Winnipeg, Manitoba R3C 3L6, or telephone 945-8667, Toll Free: 1-800-282-8069.
