Youth Mental Health and Justice: Strengthening Integration and Coordination
La santé mentale des jeunes et la justice : Renforcer l'intégration et la coordination

Conference Objective/ Objectif de la conférence

The conference will demonstrate how a coordinated, integrated multi-agency response more effectively meets the needs of youth with mental health issues who are or who may be in the justice system and will identify the supports required for that approach to be successful.

La conférence démontrera comment une démarche intégrée et coordonnée entre divers organismes répond plus efficacement aux besoins des jeunes ayant des problèmes de santé mentale et qui ont ou risquent d'avoir affaire au système de justice. En outre, elle cernera les appuis nécessaires au succès d'une telle démarche.

Mental Health Commission of Canada and Youth Mental Health/ La Commission de la santé mentale du Canada et la santé mentale des jeunes

Objective/ Objectif

This address will describe the priorities of the Mental Health Commission of Canada and the initiatives being undertaken in the context of the complex issues surrounding youth with mental health problems and the justice system. Greater collaboration among the systems that respond to youth with mental health problems, including but not limited to justice, health and education, needs to be encouraged and made more effective./ *Ce discours décrira les priorités de la Commission de la santé mentale du Canada et les initiatives entreprises face aux enjeux complexes qui touchent les jeunes ayant des problèmes de santé mentale qui ont affaire au système de justice. Winnipeg Regional Health Authority and Youth Mental Health/ L'Office régional de la santé de Winnipeg et la santé mentale des jeunes

Objective/ Objectif

Understanding the characteristics of mental illness that result in youth becoming involved in the justice system is essential for an effective response to these young people. The services necessary to respond to these youth are sometimes under-resourced or missing. The regional health authority has an important role in bringing together all of the interests that should be involved in meeting the needs of these youth. A particular challenge is delivering services to Aboriginal youth with mental health problems as well as to youth in smaller, rural communities./ Pour intervenir efficacement, il est essentiel de comprendre les caractéristiques de la santé mentale qui amènent des jeunes à avoir affaire au système de justice. Souvent, les services nécessaires pour répondre aux besoins de ces jeunes manquent de ressources ou sont absents. Les services régionaux de santé ont un rôle important à jouer dans le ralliement de tous les acteurs qui devraient aider à combler les besoins de ces jeunes. Il y a un défi particulier à relever pour assurer des services aux jeunes Autochtones ayant des problèmes de santé mentale ainsi qu'aux jeunes des petites collectivités rurales.

Youth Mental Health and the Law/ La santé mentale des jeunes et la loi

Objective/ Objectif

This session will explore how the youth justice system works for youth with mental health issues. A speaker from Justice Canada, will consider, from a policy perspective, how the Youth Criminal Justice Act is applied to youth with mental health issues who find themselves involved in the criminal justice system. Three other speakers will address their experience with the youth justice system as it pertains to young people with mental health problems and evaluate the system's strengths and weaknesses./ Cette séance examinera la façon dont le système de justice pour les adolescents agit face aux jeunes ayant des problèmes de santé mentale. Un représentant de Justice Canada abordera comment, selon les politiques, la Loi sur le système de justice pénale pour les adolescents doit être appliquée aux jeunes ayant des problèmes de santé mentale qui ont affaire au système de justice pénale. Trois autres conférenciers discuteront de leur expérience du système de justice pour les adolescents face aux jeunes ayant des problèmes de santé mentale, et évalueront les forces et les faiblesses du système.

Speakers/ Conférenciers

- Catherine Latimer, Director General, Youth Justice, Strategic Initiatives and Law Reform, Justice Canada, Ottawa/ Catherine Latimer, directrice générale, Justice pénale pour les adolescents, Initiatives stratégiques et réforme du droit, Justice Canada, Ottawa

The presentation will examine the challenges and opportunities within the Youth Criminal Justice Act (YCJA) for dealing with cognitive deficits or mental health issues of youth in conflict with the law. The legislative framework is based on the criminal law and interventions are designed to ensure accountability for criminal acts proportionate to the seriousness of the offence and the degree of responsibility of the offender. Within this framework, there is considerable flexibility to promote fairness for those with mental health issues at all stages of the youth justice system. This can include: decision makers, like the police and judges, using conferencing with mental health experts to help inform their decisions; police and judges referring youth to programs or agencies in their communities; and certain sentencing options. A range of justice system problems related to adolescent mental illness and possibilities for addressing them through the Act will be explored./ Cette présentation se penchera sur les difficultés et les possibilités qui se présentent dans le cadre de la Loi sur le système de justice pénale pour les adolescents face aux déficits cognitifs et problèmes de santé mentale des jeunes qui ont des démêlés avec la loi. Le cadre législatif se fonde sur le droit criminel, et les interventions visent à assurer à l'égard des actes criminels une responsabilisation proportionnelle à la gravité de l'infraction et au degré de responsabilité du délinquant. Dans cette optique, il y a une souplesse importante permettant de favoriser un traitement équitable pour ceux qui ont des problèmes de santé mentale, et ce, à tous les niveaux du système de justice pour les jeunes. C'est ainsi par exemple que les décideurs, comme les policiers et les juges, peuvent consulter des spécialistes en santé mentale pour guider leurs décisions. Les policiers et les juges peuvent aussi orienter les jeunes vers des programmes ou des organismes au sein de leurs communautés. Il existe par ailleurs certaines options en matière de peines. La séance examinera un éventail de problèmes du système de justice en ce qui concerne la maladie mentale chez les jeunes, ainsi que des moyens dont ils peuvent être résolus.

Youth Engagement: The New Mentality

Objective/ Objectif

Four dynamic and passionate youth members of the New Mentality will share with conference participants their life stories. The speakers will share their candid experiences as young people with mental health issues who have been through the revolving doors of the mental health and justice systems. With an eloquent honesty we will hear what life is truly like when you are struggling with the mental health and justice systems. These four young people will offer recommendations on what has worked for them and what needs to change./ *Quatre jeunes membres dynamiques et passionnés du programme Nouvelle mentalité présenteront le récit de leur vie aux participants à la conférence. - Kelly-Ann Stevenson, Registered Psychiatric Nurse, Manitoba Adolescent Treatment Centre, Winnipeg/ Kelly-Ann Stevenson, infirmière autorisée en psychiatrie, Centre de traitement des adolescents du Manitoba, Winnipeg
The Manitoba Adolescent Treatment Centre/Youth Forensic Services is a community-based service whose office is located at the Manitoba Youth Centre. The YFS treatment team consists of two part-time psychiatrists, one full-time psychologist and one full-time psychiatric nurse. For the past thirteen years, the YFS team has provided psychiatric services to youth in custody. In the past five years, YFS has endeavoured to provide seamless delivery of mental health services specifically to young female, and on a smaller scale, male offenders who reside in the city of Winnipeg. The psychiatric nurse is located in the community corrections office on a half-time basis to provide services to female offenders who are on probation. A review of what has been successful and what the barriers have been in providing this seamless service will be covered in this presentation./ Le Centre de traitement des adolescents du Manitoba / Services aux jeunes contrevenants (SJC) est un service communautaire offert dans les locaux du Centre manitobain de la jeunesse. L'équipe des SJC comprend deux psychiatres à temps partiel, un psychologue à temps plein et une infirmière psychiatrique à temps plein. Depuis 13 ans, l'équipe des SJC fournit des services psychiatriques aux jeunes en détention. Dans les cinq dernières années, les responsables des SJC se sont employés à assurer une prestation de services intégrés en santé mentale expressément destinés aux jeunes délinquantes et, à une échelle plus modeste, aux délinquants masculins qui vivent à Winnipeg. L'infirmière psychiatrique consacre la moitié de son temps à offrir des services aux délinquantes en probation, dans le bureau communautaire des services correctionnels. Cet exposé passera en revue les aspects qui ont été des succès et les obstacles qui se sont manifestés dans l'offre de ces services intégrés.

- Michèle Goyette, Director of Special Services and Services to Young Offenders, Centre jeunesse de Montréal/ Michèle Goyette, directrice des services spécialisés et des services aux jeunes contrevenants, Centre jeunesse de Montréal

In this presentation, Ms. Goyette will first explain the organizational structure of services for young offenders in Quebec. This structure is very different from what exists in the other provinces and it is important to present it in order to understand how services are organized. Secondly, Ms Goyette will present the values and goals that condition every decision or service under the Youth Criminal Justice Act in Quebec. Finally, she will demonstrate the practical applications of the “Québec way”, for teenagers involved in juvenile delinquency and presenting as well one or more diagnoses of mental illness./ Dans cette présentation, M^{me} Goyette expliquera d'abord la structure organisationnelle des services aux jeunes délinquants au Québec. Cette structure est très différente de ce qui existe dans les autres provinces, donc il importe de la connaître pour comprendre la façon dont les services sont organisés. Deuxièmement, M^{me} Goyette présentera les valeurs et les buts qui conditionnent chaque décision prise ou service rendu au Québec dans le cadre de la Loi sur le système de justice pénale pour les adolescents. Enfin, elle démontrera la façon dont l'approche québécoise se traduit dans la pratique pour les adolescents impliqués dans la délinquance juvénile et présentant un diagnostic de maladie mentale.

- Constable Andria Cowan, Toronto Police Service/ Agente Andria Cowan, Service de police de Toronto

Police Constable Andria Cowan will represent the front-line police officer's perspective on responding to youth in crisis. She will share the challenges associated with supporting youth through mental health based interventions, the lack of alternatives to apprehension or arrests, and the obvious disconnect between numerous layers of government and community services./ L'agente de police Andria Cowan présentera le point de vue des policiers de première ligne sur les interventions face aux jeunes en crise. Elle exposera les défis à relever pour soutenir les jeunes grâce à des interventions fondées sur la santé mentale. Elle abordera l'absence d'options à l'appréhension ou l'arrestation ainsi que l'évidente rupture entre les nombreux paliers de services gouvernementaux et communautaires.

- Liz Wolff, Program Manager, New Directions for Children, Youth, Adults and Families, Winnipeg/ Liz Wolff, directrice des programmes, New Directions for Children, Youth, Adults and Families, Winnipeg

Mental health problems often develop during adolescence or early adulthood. This means that for those of us working on the front lines with youth there is a heightened likelihood that we will be the first point of contact for these young people. Compounding the issue of the emergence of mental health issues in adolescence is the turbulence of the developmental tasks and challenges of this stage. If one then adds substances to the mix, this potentiates the risk for serious, harmful consequences.

Conservative estimates are that as many as 15% of children and youth are affected by a mental health problem at any given time and 18.4% of youth age 15-24 meet the criteria for at least one measured disorder or substance dependence. In our program population, that number rests at 40% (10% diagnosed, 30% suspected.)

This presentation will focus on the need for access to mental health resources that are seamless, timely, culturally sensitive, and developmentally appropriate so that front-line staff can address the high rate of mental health concerns./ Les problèmes de santé mentale débutent souvent à l'adolescence ou au début de l'âge adulte. Ainsi pour nous qui travaillons sur le terrain avec les jeunes, il y a une plus grande probabilité que nous soyons leur premier interlocuteur à ce moment. L'émergence des problèmes de santé mentale à l'adolescence soulève d'autant plus de difficultés qu'elle s'ajoute à la turbulence de ce stade de développement et de ses défis. S'il y a en plus des problèmes de toxicomanie, le risque de conséquences graves et nuisibles devient très réel.

Selon des estimations prudentes, jusqu'à 15 % des enfants et adolescents sont touchés par un problème de santé mentale, et 18,4 % des jeunes de 15 à 24 ans répondent au critère d'au moins un trouble mesuré ou d'une dépendance à une substance. Dans la population visée par notre programme, la proportion est de 40 % (10 % de cas diagnostiqués, 30 % soupçonnés).

Cet exposé portera sur la nécessité d'un accès à des ressources en santé mentale qui soit facile, rapide, sensible aux différences culturelles et adapté selon les stades de développement. Un tel accès est nécessaire à ce que les intervenants en première ligne puissent faire face à la forte incidence de problèmes de santé mentale.

Breakout Sessions: Promising Practices and Research (please select one)/

Séances de discussion en groupes : Recherches et pratiques prometteuses

Objective/ Objectif

The breakouts will permit communities and institutions to showcase their innovative programs and “promising practices” that reflect the intent of the Youth Criminal Justice Act and contend with issues of sustainability. Delegates will leave with ideas and approaches to try out in their own communities.

Delegates will select one breakout session from the list for each time slot.

Les séances de travail permettront aux collectivités et institutions de faire connaître leurs programmes innovateurs et « pratiques prometteuses » qui s’inscrivent dans l’esprit de la Loi sur le système de justice pénale pour les adolescents tout en se souciant des problèmes de viabilité. Les délégués y trouveront des idées et méthodes à essayer dans leurs propres collectivités.

Les délégués choisissent une séance de travail dans la liste pour chaque créneau horaire.

SESSION A/ SÉANCE A

BC Youth Hub Strategy/ Stratégie Youth Hub de la Colombie-Britannique
Speakers/ Conférenciers

- Ian Mass, Executive Director, Pacific Community Resources Society, Vancouver/ Ian Mass, directeur général, Pacific Community Resources Society, Vancouver
- Christine Devries, Broadway Youth Resource Centre, Vancouver/ Christine Devries, Broadway Youth Resource Centre, Vancouver
- Robert Wilmot, Manager, Broadway Youth Resource Centre, Vancouver/ Robert Wilmot, chef, Broadway Youth Resource Centre, Vancouver

Services are usually designed by funders and service providers who put value words like comprehensive, seamless, integrated, youth led in program descriptions. But when youth look at these services they are don't see that at all. Pacific Community Resources Society has developed three youth centres over the last ten years working at putting real meaning to the words.

This presentation by youth and adults will tell you how well we've done. The youth centres now provide a one-stop service provision with a wide range of housing, alternate education programs, addictions counselling and prevention, family mediation and grief counselling, parent support, outreach services including rapid transit workers, sexual exploitation services, youth justice, mental health, mentorship programs, arts/culture/recreational programming, health, employment, and lifeskills.

This innovative multi-agency model:

- provides a seamless continuum of integrated community-based social and health services to at-risk youth;
- improves the health and well-being of at-risk youth; and
- actively engages and involves youth in all aspects of the Centre operations so that they feel that they are part of a youth friendly environment, that their voices are heard and they are given the chance to be involved and make decisions, gain leadership skills and see their ideas realized

We have a governance structure with the 15 different agencies that work out of the centres, funding from all three levels of government, foundations and fundraising. We serve over 5000 distinct youth annually.

Les services sont habituellement conçus par les instances qui les financent et qui les offrent, qui décrivent les programmes en recourant volontiers à des mots tels que : exhaustif, transparent, intégré, dirigé par les jeunes. Mais quand les jeunes considèrent ces services, ce n'est pas du tout ce qu'ils perçoivent. Dans les 10 dernières années, la Pacific Community Resources Society a mis sur pied trois centres pour jeunes en s'efforçant de donner un sens réel aux mots.

Cet exposé donné par des jeunes et des adultes vous démontrera à quel point nous avons réussi. Les centres pour jeunes constituent maintenant un guichet unique donnant accès à une vaste gamme de programmes de logement, d'éducation alternative, de counseling et de prévention de la toxicomanie, de médiation familiale, d'aide aux personnes en deuil, s'appui aux parents, de services proactifs, de services face à l'exploitation sexuelle, de justice pour les jeunes, de santé mentale, de mentorat, d'activités liées aux arts, à la culture et aux loisirs, de santé, d'emploi et de développement des aptitudes à la vie quotidienne.

Ce modèle innovateur faisant intervenir de multiples organismes :

- offre aux jeunes à risque un continuum de services communautaires intégrés en matière sociale et en matière de santé;
- améliore la santé et le bien-être des jeunes à risque;
- touche directement les jeunes et les fait participer à tous les aspects des activités du Centre, de sorte qu'ils se considèrent comme faisant partie d'un environnement accueillant pour les jeunes et qu'ils comprennent que leurs voix sont entendues, qu'ils ont l'occasion de participer et de prendre des décisions, d'acquérir des compétences en leadership et de voir leurs idées se réaliser.

Nous avons une structure de régie réunissant les 15 organismes qui travaillent à partir des centres, et nous recevons des fonds des trois paliers de gouvernement, de fondations et d'activités de financement. Nous desservons plus de 5000 jeunes chaque année.

An account of the referral and screening process to determine mental health diversion suitability based on the program criteria will be detailed as will the assessment process to bring the matter to completion. Given that the program is designed as a “flow through” model, a description of the community stakeholders and Youth

Therapeutic Court team will be given to demonstrate the requirement for a collaborative approach to serving the needs of this vulnerable population. Finally, two cases will be profiled to present the human element of the program and to show the positive outcomes and challenges of program delivery within this context./ Cet exposé comprendra une vue d'ensemble du rôle de clinicien en santé mentale des jeunes auprès du tribunal ainsi qu'il se matérialise pour les jeunes accusés d'une infraction criminelle qui relèvent de la Youth Therapeutic Court de London. Une description sera donnée du système d'orientation et de dépistage déterminant l'opportunité d'un traitement fondé sur la santé mentale au regard des critères du programme, ainsi que du processus d'évaluation utilisé pour mener chaque dossier à bien. Comme le programme est conçu en fonction d'un modèle de transition, les intervenants de la communauté et l'équipe de la Youth Therapeutic Court seront décrits de façon à démontrer la nécessité d'une approche collaborative en vue de combler les besoins d'une population qui est vulnérable. Enfin, deux études de cas seront présentées pour faire ressortir l'élément humain du programme et les résultats positifs autant que les difficultés de la prestation du programme dans ce contexte.

- Mary Pyche, Health Service Manager, Halifax MHMCT/ Mary Pyche, directrice des services de santé, MHMCT de Halifax

The Mental Health Mobile Crisis Team (MHMCT) is a co-response model of mental health practitioners and police working together to build capacity to respond to mental health crises in the community. In this model, dedicated law enforcement officers work together with mental health clinicians through posting to a crisis team. The MHMCT provides support for children, youth and adults experiencing a mental health crisis in the community in the environment of their choice. Our theme is “right service, right time, and right place”. This presentation will introduce the concept of this co-response model and describe what it looks like and how it works in service delivery./ Le Mental Health Mobile Crisis Team (MHMCT) est un modèle dans lequel les spécialistes de la santé mentale et les policiers travaillent ensemble pour pouvoir répondre aux crises en santé mentale dans la communauté. Des agents d'application de la loi expressément affectés à cette action travaillent avec des cliniciens en santé mentale dans le cadre d'une équipe d'intervention. Le MHMCT offre de l'aide aux enfants, adolescents et adultes vivant une crise en santé mentale dans la communauté, et ce, dans l'environnement qu'ils choisissent eux-mêmes. Nous voulons offrir le service opportun, au moment opportun et dans le lieu opportun. Cet exposé présentera le concept de ce modèle d'intervention commune et décrira la forme qu'il prend ainsi que la façon dont il fournit des services.

Children under 12 years of age in conflict with the law present a unique challenge. This breakout session will introduce participants to a comprehensive, collaborative, evidence-based model developed by the Centre for Children Committing Offences at the Child Development Institute in Toronto. The model focuses on three key areas: reliable police-community referral mechanisms; structured professional judgment - gender sensitive risk assessment; and clinical risk management strategies. The session will highlight the SNAP® (Stop Now And Plan) Program which is gaining international recognition as an “exemplary” model being replicated worldwide, and which was, in 2008, selected by the National Crime Prevention Centre as an evidence-based model. The EARL-20B and EARL-21G risk assessment tools used to assess future antisocial behaviour in young children will also be discussed./ Les enfants de moins de 12 ans qui ont affaire à la loi présentent une problématique particulière. Cette séance de discussion présentera aux participants un modèle complet, collaboratif et fondé sur des données qui a été mis au point par le Centre for Children Committing Offences du Child Development Institute, à Toronto. Ce modèle se concentre sur trois éléments clés : des mécanismes fiables d'orientation des personnes par la police et la communauté; un jugement professionnel structuré – évaluation des risques en tenant compte du sexe; et des stratégies de gestion clinique des risques. La séance présentera aussi le programme SNAP® (Stop Now And Plan), qui est de plus en plus reconnu à l'échelle internationale comme modèle exemplaire, est utilisé partout au monde et a été retenu en 2008 par le Centre national de prévention du crime comme modèle fondé sur des données. Les outils d'évaluation des risques EARL-20B et EARL-21G portant sur le comportement antisocial futur des jeunes enfants seront aussi examinés.

Interrelationships among mental health, substance abuse and cognition in youth with Fetal Alcohol Spectrum Disorder in the justice system/ Rapports entre santé mentale, toxicomanie et cognition chez les jeunes ayant des troubles causés par l'alcoolisation fœtale qui ont affaire au système de justice
Speaker/ Conférencière

- Dr. Julianne Conry, Asante Centre for Fetal Alcohol Syndrome, Maple Ridge, BC/ D'r Julianne Conry, Asante Centre for Fetal Alcohol Syndrome, Maple Ridge (Colombie-Britannique)

There is increasing awareness that there is a large number of youth with Fetal Alcohol Spectrum Disorder (FASD) in trouble with the law. Cognitive deficits, impulsivity, inability to anticipate the consequences of their actions, and being easily led are some of the characteristics of FASD that may increase the susceptibility to trouble with the law. Mental health and substance abuse issues are common in this group of young offenders.

Funded by Justice Canada and the Ministry for Children and Families (B.C.) the Asante Centre for FAS in collaboration with PLEA Community Services have developed a probation officers' screening tool, provided assessments for FASD, and follow-up services for these youth. This presentation will discuss findings using the screening tool and the cognitive profiles of diagnosed youth, with emphasis on the complex interrelationships among mental health problems, substance abuse, and cognitive deficits that need to be addressed in order to ensure fair treatment and provide effective services./ Il apparaît de plus en plus évident qu'un grand nombre de jeunes ayant des troubles causés par l'alcoolisation fœtale ont des démêlés avec la justice. Ces troubles entraînent entre autres conséquences des déficits cognitifs, une impulsivité, une incapacité de prévoir les conséquences de ses actes et une disposition à se laisser entraîner par d'autres personnes qui augmentent le risque de démêlés avec la justice. Les problèmes de santé mentale et de toxicomanie sont communs parmi jeunes délinquants touchés par ces troubles.

Avec un appui financier de Justice Canada et du ministère de l'Enfance et de la Famille (Colombie-Britannique), l'Asante Centre for FAS, en collaboration avec PLEA Community Services, a mis au point un outil de dépistage pour les agents de probation, fourni des évaluations de l'ensemble des troubles causés par l'alcoolisation fœtale et offre des services de suivi auprès des jeunes. Cet exposé examinera les résultats de l'utilisation de l'outil de dépistage ainsi que les profils cognitifs des jeunes diagnostiqués, en mettant l'accent sur les interactions complexes entre problèmes de santé mentale, toxicomanie et déficit cognitif auxquels il faut s'attaquer pour assurer un traitement équitable et des services efficaces.

Youth Mental Health and Corrections/ La santé mentale des jeunes et les services correctionnels

Objective/ Objectif

Precise data on the prevalence of mental illness among young offenders and young adult offenders is not available, but research indicates that there is a greater prevalence of mental illness among those who are in the corrections system than in the general population. The Youth Criminal Justice Act includes provision for a youth justice court to order an assessment by mental health professionals and to receive recommendations on treatment plans for young persons. This session will address efforts by correctional institutions to provide mental health services to youth and young adults in custody, and discuss positive and promising outcomes as well as ongoing and emerging challenges./ Il manque de données précises sur l'incidence des maladies mentales parmi les adolescents et jeunes adultes délinquants, mais la recherche indique qu'elle est plus grande au sein de la population carcérale que dans la population générale. La Loi sur le système de justice pénale pour les adolescents prévoit que le tribunal pour adolescents peut ordonner une évaluation par des professionnels de la santé mentale et recevoir des recommandations sur des programmes de traitement des adolescents. Cette séance abordera les efforts déployés par les établissements correctionnels en vue d'offrir des services en santé mentale aux adolescents et jeunes adultes en détention. Elle examinera les résultats positifs et prometteurs ainsi que les difficultés persistantes et émergentes.

Youth Mental Health in Remote or Small Communities/ La santé mentale des jeunes dans les collectivités isolées ou les petites collectivités

Objective/ Objectif

This session will address the particular challenges faced in responding to youth with mental health issues in remote or small communities. Poor access to services, lack of community supports and the stigmatization that can occur in a small town where everyone knows everyone hinder effective response. Speakers will offer strategies for improving the response to youth with mental health problems in these communities./ Cette séance abordera les difficultés particulières face aux besoins des jeunes ayant des problèmes de santé mentale dans les collectivités isolées ou les petites collectivités. Les conférenciers proposeront des stratégies pour l'améliorer.

Speakers/ Conférenciers

- John Fenik, Mayor of the Town of Perth (ON) and Special Services Counsellor, Upper Canada District School Board/ John Fenik, maire, ville de Perth (Ontario) et conseiller – services spécialisés, Conseil scolaire Upper Canada

This presentation will examine the challenges and successes in responding to youth with mental health concerns, within the vast geographical boundaries of Ontario's Upper Canada District School Board. Traditional barriers to accessing mental health services such as institutional silos, government detachment and stakeholder disengagement will be explored from the mental health perspective of looking at the child as an individual, viewing the child within its family, and seeing the family within its community. Successful initiatives such as models of streamlined mental health access and collaborative protocols between the police, mental health agencies, district hospitals, psychiatric agencies and addiction services will be discussed. Understanding that the community's most precious resource is our children, the tragedies and triumphs of our mental health system will be shared, as seen through the eyes of a small town mayor and school board social worker./ Cet exposé examinera les défis à relever et les succès obtenus en répondant aux besoins des jeunes ayant des problèmes de santé mentale, dans le vaste territoire du Conseil scolaire Upper Canada en Ontario. Les obstacles habituels à l'accès aux services en santé mentale, comme le cloisonnement entre les institutions, la désaffection des gouvernements et le manque d'engagement des parties intéressées, seront examinés dans la perspective de la santé mentale considérant l'enfant comme un individu, l'enfant au sein de sa famille et sa famille au sein de sa communauté. Les initiatives heureuses comme les modèles d'accès simplifié aux soins de santé mentale et les protocoles de collaboration entre la police, les organismes de santé mentale, les hôpitaux régionaux, les organismes psychiatriques et les services de lutte à la toxicomanie seront discutés. Étant entendu que les enfants sont la plus précieuse ressource de la communauté, les tragédies et les triomphes de notre système de santé mentale seront examinés dans l'optique d'un maire de petite ville et d'un travailleur social à l'emploi d'un conseil scolaire.

Schools play an important role in identifying mental health problems, counselling, collaborating with police through school resource officers, countering stigmatization, encouraging youth to finish their education and helping youth transition to adulthood. The speakers will demonstrate the benefits to youth with mental health issues and their families when the education, health and justice systems collaborate./ *Les écoles jouent un rôle important en repérant les problèmes de santé mentale, en offrant du counselling, en collaborant avec la police par l'entremise d'agents scolaires, en parant à la stigmatisation, en encourageant les jeunes à terminer leurs études et en aidant les jeunes à faire la transition à la vie d'adulte. - Linda Richards, Nutana Collegiate, Saskatoon/ Linda Richards, école secondaire Nutana, Saskatoon

Nutana Collegiate is a community school which exemplifies Saskatchewan's School Plus concept. Our Integrated School Linked Services include a community developer, social workers, addictions counselor and criminal justice links. My presentation is about a "Healthy Relationship" pilot which we integrated into my Psych. 30 curriculum over the last two years. We brought skilled professionals into my class once a week for six weeks to instruct students in topics the students chose: self-esteem, assertiveness not aggression, mental illness, addiction, etc. These collaborators shared content, listened and provided hope. The relationships with the presenters grew outside of class time. This model is very cost-efficient for schools because the professionals' salaries are paid by other agencies. Information offered in a safe, classroom environment bears no negative stigma; counseling is part of the curriculum. We have subsequently implemented "Healthy Relationships" components into other classes: wellness, parenting and English classes. Improved school retention, discouraged substance abuse and a sense of empowerment are the results I see./ Le Collège Nutana est une école communautaire illustrant le concept écolePLUS de la Saskatchewan. Nos services intégrés liés au milieu scolaire comprennent un spécialiste du développement des collectivités, des travailleurs sociaux, un conseiller en toxicomanies et des liens au système de justice pénale. Ma présentation concerne un projet pilote de « saine relation » que nous avons intégré à mon programme « Psych. 30 » dans les deux dernières années. Une fois par semaine pendant six semaines, nous avons invité des professionnels chevronnés dans ma classe pour aborder des sujets choisis par les étudiants : estime de soi, assertivité et non agressivité, maladie mentale, toxicomanie et ainsi de suite. Ces collaborateurs ont présenté du contenu, écouté et donné de l'espoir. Les relations avec eux se sont développées en dehors de la classe.

Ce modèle est peu coûteux pour les écoles parce que les salaires des professionnels sont payés par d'autres organismes. L'information offerte dans un contexte sûr de salle de classe n'est assortie d'aucune connotation négative et le counseling fait partie du programme. Nous avons par la suite appliqué des éléments de « saines relations » dans d'autres cours : bien-être, rôle parental et anglais. Parmi les résultats que j'ai constatés figurent une meilleure persistance à l'école, une dissuasion de la toxicomanie et un sentiment d'habilitation.

- Lynn Damberger, Alberta Health Services: Mental Health Capacity Building Model/ Lynn Damberger, Services de santé Alberta – modèle de renforcement des capacités en santé mentale

The “Mental Health Capacity Building for Children, Youth and Families” initiative focuses on mental health promotion, prevention and early intervention. Using integrated, cross-sectoral, interdisciplinary teams at school-based sites, the teams focus on universal approaches for the whole school population, activities with those who are at-risk and planned interventions with those who are in need of more intensive support. Community partners, including schools, addictions and mental health, health, children’s services, police, other service providers and families, work together to identify the needs and target populations of children, youth and families and plan programming to meet those needs. Each project also strives to build the capacity of school staff, other service providers, families and the community at large to be better informed and able to provide healthy environments. Early evaluation results and anecdotal evidence indicate that these projects have made an impact by supporting children and youth to make better choices which may have reduced their involvement in crime./ L’initiative « renforcement des capacités en santé mentale pour les enfants, les adolescents et les familles » porte sur la promotion de la santé mentale, la prévention et l’intervention précoce. Elle recourt à des équipes intersectorielles et interdisciplinaires intégrées travaillant dans les écoles et se concentrant sur des démarches universelles visant l’ensemble de la population scolaire, des activités avec les jeunes à risque et des interventions planifiées avec ceux qui ont besoin d’un appui plus poussé. Les partenaires de la communauté dont les écoles, le secteur de la toxicomanie et de la santé mentale, les organismes de santé, les services à l’enfance, la police, d’autres fournisseurs de services et les familles font œuvre commune pour cerner les besoins et cibler des populations d'enfants, d'adolescents et de familles, et planifient des programmes qui combleront leurs besoins. Les premiers résultats d'évaluation ainsi que des données empiriques indiquent que les projets entrepris ont eu de l'effet en aidant les enfants et adolescents à faire de meilleurs choix, ce qui peut avoir réduit leur participation à des activités criminelles.

The need for a population-based approach to mental health promotion, illness prevention, early identification and early intervention will be emphasized. Participants will become familiar with the work of the Provincial Centre of Excellence for Child and Youth Mental Health in general as well as its focused work in school-based mental health. Specific initiatives in mental health literacy (YooMagazine), youth engagement (Dare to Dream) and knowledge mobilization will be highlighted. Participants will also be introduced to the National School-Based Mental Health and Substance Abuse Consortium and its three-year project work with the Mental Health Commission of Canada./ *Dans cette séance, les participants recevront de l'information de référence sur l'ampleur et les effets des problèmes de santé mentale chez les enfants et les adolescents dans un contexte scolaire. Chief Robert Keith McCaskill

Keith McCaskill commenced his career with the Winnipeg Police Service in 1976. He has worked in a number of areas throughout the Service, including uniform patrol, plain clothes investigations and undercover investigations.

He is also a trained incident commander, who has commanded the on-scene police response at numerous armed and barricaded incidents.

Throughout his career he has commanded many different areas of the Service including Uniform Divisions, Internal Investigations and the Criminal Investigations Division; which was comprised of 13 independent units including Homicide, Major Crimes, Stolen Auto, Arson Strike Force and Forensic Identification, to name a few.

He has been involved in numerous Joint Forces Operations with police agencies across Canada and was extensively involved in an International Joint Forces Operation involving 9 different police agencies investigating a serial sniper case.

In 2005 he retired after 29 years of service when he was offered a position with the Government of Manitoba as the Coordinator of Aboriginal and Municipal Law Enforcement for the Province. In this role, he was responsible for ensuring Municipal and Aboriginal Law Enforcement agencies were providing adequate and effective policing for the citizens of Manitoba. He also took on a number of other responsibilities, including Chairing the Manitoba Meth Task Force which was an initiative involving Federal, Provincial and Municipal Departments to combat Crystal Meth. He also coordinated the Amber Alert protocol for the Province of Manitoba and chaired and contributed to many different committees and boards.

In December of 2007, Keith returned to the Winnipeg Police Service when he was appointed the 16th Chief of Police for the City of Winnipeg.

He is a graduate of the Federal Bureau of Investigation's National Academy as well as a number of programs through the Canadian Police College.

Keith is married to his wife Grace and has two grown children. His son JP is a police officer and his daughter Dawn is a police dispatcher, both with the Winnipeg Police Service.

Acting Deputy Mayor Gord Steeves

After graduating from Robson Hall Law School at the University of Manitoba in 1993, Gord Steeves set up private practice in St. Vital and began his public service career in the community. He served two terms as school trustee for St. Vital and chaired the finance committee before moving on to chair the Winnipeg Technical College board of directors. In November 2000, he was elected to Winnipeg City Council where he has established himself as a leader and one of the most active councilors.

He is involved in numerous committees, taking on responsibilities including Acting Deputy Mayor, Chairperson of the Protection and Community Services Committee, member of the Mayor's Executive Policy Committee, Secretary of Intergovernmental Affairs and member on the Downtown Development and Audit Committees. Gord is also the Past President of the Federation of Canadian Municipalities.

Gord Steeves is proud to be a citizen of Winnipeg and a resident of St. Vital. He constantly strives to keep in touch with the people in his ward and serves on a variety of community clubs, business and social organizations.

Gord and Lorrie have three children: Abigail, Hayden and Camille.

Mary-Lou Donnelly

Mary-Lou Donnelly, President of the Canadian Teachers' Federation (CTF), was born in Halifax and holds degrees from Acadia University (BA), Dalhousie (BEd) and Saint Mary's University (MA). A teacher for twenty-five years, she was Vice-Principal, Sir John A. Macdonald High School and Principal, St. Patrick's-Alexandra School in Halifax. Her career has spanned elementary, junior and senior high, teaching Core French, French Immersion, German and English.

She is Past President of the Nova Scotia Teachers Union which initiated, under her leadership, "Time to Learn, Time to Teach", an ongoing project to address teacher workload, student learning and the needs of education. She is also a founding member of the Coalition Against Workplace Violence, a provincial lobby group of Nova Scotia Public Sector Unions which helped bring about legislation protecting against emotional/verbal/physical violence in the workplace.

Ms. Donnelly has served on several CTF Committees(Finance, Board Negotiating, Personnel Selection; CTF Trust Fund; and the Advisory Committee on French as a First Language) and chairs the Status of Women Committee.

Awarded a Canadian Progress Club Women of Excellence Award in 2005, she also sits on the Board of Peaceful Schools International.

Chief Paul Smith

A. Paul Smith began his policing career in 1977 and joined Charlottetown Police Services in 1978. His policing career has been varied including work within Uniform Patrol, Drug Section and Major Crime and, since 1995, Chief of Police for the City of Charlottetown.
