2006 - 2008 SERVICE PERFORMANCE: PRIORITIES

Every three years, the Toronto Police Services Board and the Toronto Police Service decide where we will focus our resources and activities. This is done within our commitment to community safety, and within the context of responsibilities mandated by the Police Services Act and other legislation, and within the framework provided by the Service's own Vision, Mission Statement, and Values. Although we will continue to work in many areas, our Priorities represent those areas that we will give extra emphasis.

This document reports on the Priorities from the just completed 2006-2008 Business Plan. These six Priorities were developed from extensive consultation with both the community and members of the Service, and from an analysis of ongoing trends and anticipated challenges for delivering police services. The Priorities reaffirmed the commitment of both the Board and the Service to community policing and to delivering services that do not discriminate, internally or externally, on the basis of race, sex, place of origin, sexual orientation, age, disability, or socio-economic status. The Priorities were based on a commitment to accountability, transparency, and to our City's diverse communities, by providing equitable, non-biased policing services, and by building a Service that is representative of those we serve.

In each area of priority, there were certain goals we wished to achieve. Partnerships played a vital role in accomplishing these goals, since many issues and problems could not be addressed by the Police Service alone. The goals, along with the strategies we used and the performance objectives/indicators that were set to measure our success, are presented under each Priority in the pages that follow.

The following tables summarise Service performance during the period of the Business Plan, 2006-2008, relative to each of the goals within the Priorities. Green shading means that most (75% or more) of the performance objectives for the goal were achieved; yellow shading means some (fewer than 75%) of the performance objectives for the goal were achieved; and, red shading means that none of the performance objectives for the goal were achieved.

PRIORITY: COMMUNITY POLICING PARTNERSHIPS

Goal
Develop partnerships with youth, community, and/or government/public agencies/services/organisations to address problems in neighbourhoods with high levels of violent crime.
Create partnerships with youth, community, and/or government/public services/agencies/organisations to assist in the development and implementation of initiatives to decrease involvement of youth in criminal activities, especially violent crime.
Increase community awareness of and opportunities to provide input on neighbourhood policing issues/concerns and/or to participate in neighbourhood problem-solving.
Develop partnerships with community and/or government agencies/services to address concerns related to the comfort or protection of witnesses, especially youth, in providing police with information on violent crime.
Improve partnerships with the community media, the mainstream media, and the ethnic media to increase the amount of crime prevention information available to Toronto's neighbourhoods and diverse communities.

PRIORITY: SAFETY OF VULNERABLE GROUPS

Goal
Increase enforcement activities and education initiatives to encourage reporting of child abuse, child pornography, and the sexual exploitation of children.
Improve response to victims of domestic violence.
Increase referrals for support and assistance for child witnesses of domestic violence.
Improve response to adult victims of sexual assault.
Focusing on violent crime, decrease and prevent victimisation of children and youth, particularly within schools and surrounding communities.

PRIORITY: COMMUNITY SAFETY & SECURITY

Goal
Increase prevention and enforcement efforts to address violent crime, specifically homicides and firearms-related offences.
Increase enforcement activities and education initiatives to encourage reporting of hate crime offences.

PRIORITY: TRAFFIC SAFETY

Goal
Improve response to neighbourhood traffic concerns.
Increase focus on pedestrian safety, especially seniors.
Increase enforcement related to aggressive driving and speeding offences.
Increase focus on cyclist safety and enforcement of cycling offences.

PRIORITY: DELIVERY OF SERVICE

Goal
Ensure officers conduct daily duties and interactions with the public in a professional, non-biased, and ethical manner, with a focus on 'customer service'.
Increase the visible presence of the Police Service in the community, focusing on uniformed officers and volunteers (including the Auxiliary).
Enhance efforts to improve understanding of police role/responsibilities and services provided, as well as citizen rights and responsibilities, through increased information/education initiatives for areas such as domestic violence, general information to recent immigrants, traffic/driving, immigration status, etc., focusing on Toronto's ethnic and visible minority communities.

PRIORITY: HUMAN RESOURCES

Goal
Ensure all Service members conduct daily duties and interactions with other Service members in a professional, non-biased, and respectful manner.
Increase recruitment, hiring, promotion, and retention of those from identified groups (women, visible minority, aboriginal, disability, sexual orientation, speak more than one language).
Ensure the organisation supports the role of front-line divisional officers as community leaders by providing increased training in problem identification, problem-solving, identifying community resources, building community partnerships, and community mobilisation, and by revising front-line officer performance evaluation to reflect activities in these areas.
Revise the current one-time diversity training for Service members to reflect a continuous learning environment.

PRIORITY: COMMUNITY POLICING PARTNERSHIPS

GOAL: Develop partnerships with youth, community, and/or government/public agencies/services/organisations to address problems in neighbourhoods with high levels of violent crime.

STRATEGIES:

Create a resource database of agencies/services/groups/individuals who have demonstrated a willingness to work with the police. The database will be updated regularly, usable, and accessible to all Unit Commanders.	Identify priority neighbourhoods in each division with the potential for violent crime and assign neighbourhood officer(s) to each area to be responsible for identifying, developing, and working with community partners who will assist in reducing violent crime in those neighbourhoods.	Increase community mobilisation by holding regular and on-going community meetings in conjunction with the divisional Community Police Liaison Committee to identify community concerns, disseminate information, and develop community capacity and relationships to deal with local issues. Such meetings may take the form of, but are not limited to, seminars, focus groups, town hall meetings, partnership development, and community walkabouts.	Identify high risk neighbourhoods, buildings, and public spaces and conduct safety audits and CPTED initiatives in partnership with local stakeholders.

- ◆ decrease in violent crime* in the zones containing the identified neighbourhoods in the 13 priority neighbourhoods defined by the city: ‡

in 2006: the rate of violent crime was 12.4 per 1,000 population **

in 2007: the rate of violent crime was 11.7 per 1,000 population **

in 2008: the rate of violent crime was 11.6 per 1,000 population **

the rate of violent crime decreased 6.5% in the city's 13 priority neighbourhoods between 2006 and 2008

* Includes murders & attempts, assaults, robberies, sexual offences, and sexual assaults. NOTE: Throughout the document, due to regular updates to the Service's live database, crime and arrest/charge data for previous years may have been revised/recalculated to reflect the latest available data and for the sake of fair comparison.

‡ Throughout this report, data provided in relation to violent crime rates by neighbourhood are susceptible to a degree of error due to complexities involved in compiling and mapping the data (i.e. geo-coding). Geo-coding is the process of assigning geographic co-ordinates to street addresses (offence locations) and is critical in order to select records within a geographic boundary. The neighbourhood data provided are based only on data that was geo-coded. Due to the current reliance on 'manual' geo-coding of occurrences, there were roughly 9% of records that were not geo-coded for each of the three years examined.

** The rate per 1,000 population by neighbourhood is calculated based on the assumption that a total of 20% of the estimated Toronto population lived in the 13 identified priority neighbourhoods (according to the 2001 Census).

PRIORITY: COMMUNITY POLICING PARTNERSHIPS

GOAL: Create partnerships with youth, community, and/or government/public services/agencies/organisations to assist in the development and implementation of initiatives to decrease involvement of youth in criminal activities, especially violent crime.

STRATEGIES:

Promote and increase the participation of community and corporate partners in Toronto Police Service programs, such as Graffiti Eradication, Empowered Student Partnerships (ESP), Student Crime Stoppers, Five Core Curriculum, and Police &amp; School Orientation Sessions, and participate in the development of new programs to direct youth away from violence.	Participate in and promote youth-focused community mobilisation initiatives such as the Youth in Policing employment program and police-youth ProAction-funded initiatives. In addition, through the creation of new community partnerships, such as with the faith community, address youth concerns that will discourage them from involvement in criminal activities.	Provide opportunities for youth volunteers to take an active role in police-community partnerships at the local level. This may include, but is not limited to, divisional volunteers, special events support, police-youth mentoring, the TROOP program, Student Crime Stoppers, MADD, Community Police Liaison Committees, and Town Hall meetings.	Identify high risk neighbourhoods, buildings, and public spaces and conduct safety audits and CPTED initiatives in partnership with local stakeholders.

PRIORITY: COMMUNITY POLICING PARTNERSHIPS

GOAL: Increase community awareness of and opportunities to provide input on neighbourhood policing issues/concerns and/or to participate in neighbourhood problem-solving.

STRATEGIES:

Develop and implement unit-level Internet web pages that may include, but are not limited to, up-to-date crime management information, opportunities for community involvement, wanted persons, crime prevention information, divisional community bulletins, specific contact information, the ability for members of the public to send information, and the ability to record the number of times the site was accessed.

Create and implement a unit-specific e-mail distribution list of interested persons to allow for the mass e-mail distribution of crime information, requests for public assistance, community events, media releases, public safety concerns, and notices.

Review and adjust the membership of each Community Police Liaison Committee (CPLC) to ensure that each includes representation of youth and residents of the divisional priority neighbourhoods, and that each reflects the cultural demographics of the division.

Identify high risk neighbourhoods, buildings, and public spaces and conduct safety audits and CPTED initiatives in partnership with local stakeholders.

PRIORITY: COMMUNITY POLICING PARTNERSHIPS

GOAL: Improve partnerships with the community media, the mainstream media, and the ethnic media to increase the amount of crime prevention information available to Toronto's neighbourhoods and diverse communities.

STRATEGIES:

The database will contain, but not be limited to, key contact information and information on the demographic group(s) the media outlet serves.	Review and amend all media relations rules, procedures, and policies to allow and promote greater access of media to Service members, while at the same time ensuring a process so that authorization is obtained by the members. All such media authorisations will be recorded in a centralised database. Such procedures will take into consideration legal, evidentiary issues, level of knowledge of the member, Service position on the issue, community safety, privacy legislation, and the reputation of the Service.	Implement media relations training that will include the availability of Public Information Unit support, rules, procedures, policies, and best practices and techniques. Unit Commanders will be encouraged to identify and develop media opportunities that will improve the relationship between the media and the Service to further aid in the dissemination of crime prevention information.	Create and implement a specific ethnic community media strategy.

The survey found that 76% of respondents, representing various print, television, radio, and web-based outlets across the city, were satisfied with the manner in which they received information from Public Information. In response to a question raised by many respondents about the process for subscribing to Service media releases, Public Information sent out a step-by-step guide on how to subscribe to the various mailing lists, including news releases, that are available, to both media and the public, on the TPS website. As a result, the number of subscribers has increased from 1,506 to 1,574.)

PRIORITY: SAFETY OF VULNERABLE GROUPS

GOAL: Increase enforcement activities and education initiatives to encourage reporting of child abuse, child pornography, and the sexual exploitation of children.

STRATEGIES:

Increase the number of investigative personnel focused on investigation of child pornography and the sexual exploitation of children.

Develop a prevention and education initiative, in partnership with school boards, relating to chat room and Internet use. The initiative could include:

- holding a community meeting for parents to discuss the use of chat rooms and the Internet, creating an awareness of what to look for in their child's behaviour;
- teaching parents how to investigate the sites their children have been visiting;
- dedicating a portion of the divisional Crime Bulletins and websites to create awareness on the Internet and chat rooms as a conduit for sexual offences, provide Internet safety information, and include child-related crime prevention tips;
- expanding delivery of the Internet Safety program within the Five Core Curriculum to reduce incidents of luring and sexual exploitation of children;
- promoting education of parental groups regarding the existence of on-line websites aimed at the protection of children from sexual predators.

Co-ordinate and enhance victim assistance by ensuring that victims and witnesses are provided with follow-up phone calls, by educating officers with respect to victim/witness sensitivity, and by encouraging divisional members to use services available to assist victims (including Victim Services, the Victim Witness Assistance Program, the Special Committee on Child Abuse-Court Preparation Program, and the Victim Compensation Board).

Hold information sessions for social workers and school administrators to discuss the role of agencies and the role of the police in domestic calls.

PRIORITY: SAFETY OF VULNERABLE GROUPS

GOAL: Improve response to adult victims of sexual assault.

STRATEGIES:

Develop a tracking template that will be used to ensure quality in all sexual assault investigations and compliance with Service procedures. Divisional detective sergeants will review the template for compliance and results before sending it to the Staff Inspector, Sex Crimes. The Staff Inspector, Sex Crimes will report on the submitted results in a quarterly report to the Chief and Command.

Ensure strict adherence to ViCLAS protocols and the Service's Sexual Assault procedure. Track the ViCLAS compliance rate and educate officers on why timely submissions are required. Investigators will train front-line members on the significance of ViCLAS and why certain information is required. Build the ViCLAS booklet into eCOPS and CIPS so that it will produce 'tombstone' information and create the booklet. Include ViCLAS compliance rates in corporate measurement processes (e.g. Stat Com).

Crime Prevention and Community Relations officers will conduct safety lectures for women and children in local shelters.

Increase the use of and compliance with targeted divisional intelligence-led policing (ILP) initiatives directed at issues dealing with areas of violent crime, individuals who are involved in violent crime, and community mobilisation and crime prevention programs.

Establish or expand existing offender management and offender monitoring and compliance programs in all divisions, units, and squads within the Service, as appropriate, to target violent offenders on judicial release or conditional sentence.

PRIORITY: COMMUNITY SAFETY & SECURITY

GOAL: Increase enforcement activities and education initiatives to encourage reporting of hate crime offences.

STRATEGIES:

Increase police visibility and contact at locations that have been identified as potential targets of, or vulnerable to, hate crime or where there is a reasonable concern by those attending such locations that they may be a victim of hate crime.

Establish a divisional liaison with the leadership of organisations that are vulnerable to, or under threat of, hate crimes. Unit Commanders will ensure that efforts are made to build trust through prioritising investigations, public awareness, education, and eradication of identified hate crime, and will ensure that officers in the division are fully aware of the issues, threats, concerns, and proper response to the vulnerable groups.

Performance Objectives/Indicators: Summary Information

PRIORITY: TRAFFIC SAFETY

GOAL: Improve response to neighbourhood traffic concerns.

STRATEGIES:

Report the results from all traffic safety initiatives implemented at the neighbourhood or City-wide level, through enhanced use of the Internet, mainstream and local media, neighbourhood organisations, and Community Police Liaison Committees (CPLCs).

Publicise Toronto's positive accomplishments with respect to neighbourhood roadway safety concerns.

Enhance the use of the intelligence-led policing (ILP) database to record, analyse, and effectively respond to neighbourhood traffic complaints received through a variety of sources including CPLCs, other community members, and neighbourhood police officers.

Publicise, through regular communication between traffic response units, successful initiatives that might result in similar successes in other neighbourhoods.

Conduct high visibility enforcement initiatives, involving community stakeholders where possible, targeting local traffic safety problems.

Develop and maintain a 'traffic safety' link on the Toronto Police Service Internet homepage that will address frequently asked questions and include relevant statistics and information relating to local traffic concerns.

PRIORITY: TRAFFIC SAFETY

GOAL: Increase focus on pedestrian safety, especially seniors.

STRATEGIES:

Use education, awareness, and enforcement principles to initiate programs focusing on motorists who endanger the safety of pedestrians, and on pedestrians who fail to obey applicable laws.	Support the Daredevil senior pedestrian educational program presented by the Health Sciences Centre, by providing topical and pertinent information on current trends for collisions involving senior pedestrians.	Focus educational initiatives on pedestrian safety, including the use of crosswalks and automatic traffic signals. Distribute educational pamphlets in high volume, problematic pedestrian areas.	Conduct lectures on traffic safety at seniors' homes, seniors' community centres, and grade schools.
Identify, through detailed collision analysis, high risk areas and high risk factors that lead to death and injuries among senior pedestrians. Obtain locations of all pedestrian crossovers for focused enforcement of all violations.	Use collision analysis data to design focused educational and enforcement-based initiatives that address high risk senior pedestrian issues.	Liaise with Toronto Transportation to ensure audits are conducted on identified high risk intersections to ensure the safest possible design is being used.	Encourage all police officers to assist in identifying locations that are most vulnerable to collisions involving pedestrians and to take effective action in addressing the underlying concerns associated with these locations.

PRIORITY: TRAFFIC SAFETY

GOAL: Increase enforcement related to aggressive driving and speeding offences.

STRATEGIES:

Include educational and awareness-based components in traffic safety programs and campaigns to support the focused enforcement activity.

Enhance awareness among all police officers of offences directly affecting the safety of road users and of the correlation between effective enforcement, heightened safety, and reduced collision rates.

Increase the number of front-line officers certified in the use of both mobile and stationary radar and laser speed measuring devices. Ensure that speed measuring devices are assigned to and used by qualified members on all shifts.

Continue to heighten officers' awareness of available enforcement options relating to street racing, thrill riding, and aggressive driving through ongoing involvement with Project ERASE (Eliminate Racing Activities on Streets Everywhere).

Initiate directed patrols focusing on aggressive driving offences such as speeding, unsafe lane changes, and intersection violations. Ensure that directed patrol assignments are created for all corporate traffic safety programs and campaigns.

Enhance enforcement efforts relating to drinking and driving by heightening awareness of the relationship between this behaviour and collision involvement, creating efficiencies wherever possible regarding the processing of such offenders, and maintaining the Service's ongoing involvement in successful initiatives such as RIDE (Reduce Impaired Driving Everywhere).

Continue directed and self-initiated general patrols both in support of local divisional traffic safety issues identified through the crime and disorder management process and focusing on aggressive driving enforcement in school zones.

Identify areas of local concern, through increased use of collision analysis data in concert with the expressed concerns of neighbourhood residents, and initiate directed patrols designed to enhance uniform visibility and traffic enforcement efforts in these areas.

Develop and implement corporate-level traffic safety programs and campaigns that address specific traffic safety issues. Ensure that these programs are strategically publicised to develop public awareness, educate road users, and deter potential offenders.

PRIORITY: TRAFFIC SAFETY

GOAL: Increase focus on cyclist safety and enforcement of cycling offences.

STRATEGIES:

Develop additional programs, using currently established initiatives as a model, to further education, awareness, and enforcement-based efforts directed at addressing cycling safety concerns.

Review currently used Provincial Offence Notice forms, in partnership with involved stakeholders, and make recommendations for amendments to these documents to support effective identification and analysis of cycling offences.

Promote awareness of bicycle safety initiatives and the results of these initiatives by effectively broadcasting pertinent information to the community through a wide variety of sources.

Identify common causal factors in bicycle-involved collisions through detailed analysis. Develop a public awareness campaign to address these factors and to promote safe cycling techniques.

Develop training resources for front-line officers regarding bicycle-specific offences.

Assign officers using bicycles for patrol purposes to bicycle-specific enforcement initiatives and attendance at neighbourhood bicycle events, to demonstrate the Service's commitment to cycling safety.

Develop partnerships with bicycle retailers and local cycling organisations to ensure a wide distribution of resource material promoting cycling safety.

PRIORITY: DELIVERY OF SERVICE

GOAL: Ensure officers conduct daily duties and interactions with the public in a professional, non-biased, and ethical manner, with a focus on 'customer service'.

STRATEGIES:

Continue to develop integrated systems by completing the rollout of the Professional Standards Information System (PSIS) to all field divisions and appropriate units.

Ensure that supervisors take a proactive approach to professionalism through training opportunities and also by timely and thorough responses to PSIS early intervention alerts.

Survey all public complainants on the quality of the service provided in filing and resolving a public complaint.

Review all complaint resolutions then analyse and assess the resolutions for compliance, competence, consistency, and appropriateness.

PRIORITY: DELIVERY OF SERVICE

GOAL: Increase the visible presence of the Police Service in the community, focusing on uniformed officers and volunteers (including the Auxiliary).

STRATEGIES:

Unit Commanders will maximise opportunities to increase uniform presence by effective deployment of foot and bike patrol officers and Auxiliary officers at community events, areas of high pedestrian volume, and where people congregate.

Field Unit Commanders will ensure that every Community Response officer is given responsibility to police a specific neighbourhood and that the assigned officer forms effective community policing partnerships with all local stakeholders, while employing crime prevention and community mobilisation techniques to reduce crime and victimisation in the area.

The Service will continue to explore opportunities to maximise officer available time through such initiatives as Internet crime reporting, systems to handle frequent missing persons, Computer-Assisted Scheduling of Court (CASC), and the off-duty traffic court attendance program.

PRIORITY: DELIVERY OF SERVICE

GOAL: Enhance efforts to improve understanding of police role/responsibilities and services provided, as well as citizen rights and responsibilities, through increased information/education initiatives for areas such as domestic violence, general information to recent immigrants, traffic/driving, immigration status, etc., focusing on Toronto's ethnic and visible minority communities.

STRATEGIES:

Expand and enhance the role of the Community Police Liaison Committees (CPLCs) and Community Consultative Committees (CCCs) by encouraging committee members to take responsibility to provide Toronto Police Service educational material (e.g. the TPS Newcomer video) to the committees' constituent groups.

Increase availability of subject specific materials in the languages and formats that are understood and appeal to our diverse communities, dealing with key topics such as domestic violence, sexual assault, traffic safety and driving issues, the public complaints process, and career opportunities within the TPS.

Partner and support the expansion of the Scadding Court Police Complaints Project into all divisions in order to improve service delivery to our diverse communities.

7 new initiatives to improve understanding of police roles/responsibilities and services provided were created between 2006 and 2008

types of initiatives:

(as reported by the Community Mobilisation and Public Information units)

- The Newcomer Outreach Program provides new immigrants with information on police services, how to contact the police, and people's rights and responsibilities under Canadian law.
- Since the ethnic media in Toronto provides newcomers and immigrants with information on police services and information on how to access those services, and explains some of their rights and responsibilities under Canadian law, a Media Open House was held for 25 representatives from ethnic media. The event gave the participants behind-the-scenes access to the Service and a close look at what is required to become a member of the TPS. The event was very well received.
- In addition, an Ethnic Media survey was sent to over 150 media outlets to find out how they felt about their relationship with the Service, about Service performance, and about the services provided by the Public Information unit. In response to a question raised by many respondents about the process for subscribing to Service media releases, Public Information sent out a step-by-step guide on how to subscribe to the various mailing lists, including news releases, that are available, to both media and the public, on the TPS website. As a result, the number of subscribers has increased from 1,506 to 1,574.
- Community Mobilisation Workshop: This is an intensive one-day workshop that focuses on community problem-solving and crime prevention. Participants receive information on how to make themselves and their property safer, as well as information on the programs and services available in their community.

- The First Nations School Program, a partnership between IBM, the Aboriginal Peacekeeping unit, and the First Nations School, improved levels of understanding of Aboriginal youth on police roles, and youth rights and responsibilities.
- The Chief's Youth Advisory Committee Pamphlet provides an overview of roles, responsibilities, and elements of community engagement. It has been distributed to divisions, community groups, and public agencies for community outreach, as a proactive community relations, crime prevention, education, mobilisation, and communication initiative.
- The Chief's Youth Advisory Committee and the BAPS Swaminarayan Mandir held a police-BAPS community appreciation event. This youth initiative acknowledged an enhanced understanding of police roles, community responsibilities, and services provided by police.

the number of internal complaints related to harassment and discrimination increased 127.8% between 2006 and 2008

PRIORITY: HUMAN RESOURCES

GOAL: Increase recruitment, hiring, promotion, and retention of those from identified groups (women, visible minority, aboriginal, disability, sexual orientation, speak more than one language).

STRATEGIES:

Conduct a comprehensive employment system review that will be used to identify and address recruitment, hiring, deployment, training, promotion, and retention barriers and issues.

Conduct an internal employee census to create a comprehensive database of the knowledge, skills, and diversity assets of all members to enable the Service to operationalise and maximise the potential of its workforce.

Create a comprehensive staff development program that addresses the full Human Resources continuum of recruiting, hiring, training, evaluation, transfers, secondments, promotions, succession planning, retention, and separations.

Create a new recruiting, hiring, and customer relationship management strategy that will achieve a representative, inclusive, and effective workforce.

All Unit Commanders in all Commands will create a Diversity Management plan to achieve unit staffing that is representative of the Service's internal demographics and is representative of their external community demographics (this includes all ranks and in all sub-units).

PRIORITY: HUMAN RESOURCES

GOAL: Ensure the organisation supports the role of front-line divisional officers as community leaders by providing increased training in problem identification, problem-solving, identifying community resources, building community partnerships, and community mobilisation, and by revising front-line officer performance evaluation to reflect activities in these areas.

STRATEGIES:

Create job descriptions, performance measurements, evaluation systems, staffing models, and operational tools that support and enable the community policing, crime prevention, and community mobilisation efforts of the Service and all members.

Design and deliver training on community policing, community mobilisation, and crime prevention to all Service members, as appropriate, Auxiliary members, Consultative Committee members, and other community partners.

Enhance the Service's annual community safety survey by ensuring that each Divisional Policing Command unit conducts an annual division-specific community safety survey that focuses on measures related to community policing, community mobilisation, and crime prevention.

in addition, 233 Recruits received training

the proportion of front-line divisional officers receiving the Community Mobilisation Orientation training course decreased 1.5% between 2006 and 2008

◆ performance evaluation for front-line officers revised to reflect the identified community-oriented activities

in 2006: (as reported by Staff Planning)

This goal remains 'in progress' at this time because revisions to front-line officers' personal appraisals will be most effective if made as part of the broader review of staff development policies, processes, and practices that is not yet complete.

The review of staff development is expected to result in, among other things, a personnel appraisal that deals more directly and specifically with the skills and activities described in the goal. However, the current form does allow supervisors and managers to evaluate members in their current duties, including the provision of community-oriented and mobilisation-oriented police services. In particular, it evaluates officers' success with respect to a number of specific core competencies, including problem-solving, community and customer orientation.

The capacity of unit management to evaluate members in terms of community mobilisation will be improved with revisions that are anticipated after the review of the TPS staff development process.

* As per the TPS Annual Statistics Report, there were 3,831 Staff/Detective Sergeants, Sergeants/Detectives, and Constables in Divisional Policing Command in 2006, 3,877 in 2007, and 3,868 in 2008.

in 2007: (as reported by Staff Planning)

The revision of the evaluation process has not yet begun. Prior to the establishment of a working group to address this issue, further action on other recommendations arising from the Employment Systems Review are required, since the evaluation process is linked to other business processes, including succession planning, career pathway mapping, and development of competency-based position profiles.

in 2008: (as reported by Staff Planning)

Revision of the evaluation process has not taken yet taken place. The Employment Systems Review 3 (ESR 3) report went to Command in December 2008, and addressed uniform HR processes other than promotion. One of the processes studied was performance appraisal/evaluations and recommendations have been made with regard to the appraisal system. The ESR 3 is still under review by the Command.

GOAL: Revise the current one-time diversity training for Service members to reflect a continuous learning environment.

STRATEGIES:

Create a new 'curriculum' for diversity management, cultural competence, ethics, and professionalism and then integrate the modules from the curriculum into all Training Unit courses.

Expand training opportunities on diversity management, cultural competence, ethics, and professionalism through use of the Service's various internal communication and decentralised training methods.

Conduct an annual review of internal and external complaints and surveys to identify and address conduct trends and training needs in the area of human rights, diversity management, cultural competence, ethics, and professionalism.

developed in 2006 for delivery in 2007:

CPLC, CCC, and CAC training training developed for PACE and CROS courses

during 2007: (as reported by the Training & Education unit)

The Policing & Community Expectations (PACE) course is a mandatory course designed to address the needs of the Toronto Police Service on several different levels. It is a refresher course that builds on the diversity training that officers previously received. It also serves to address the constantly changing needs of the Service and the diverse communities that officers serve. Finally, it provides tools to members, assisting them as they continue to conduct themselves in a manner representative of the core values and professionalism of the agency responsible for policing one of the most culturally diverse cities in the world.

All sworn members of the Toronto Police Service up to and including the rank of staff/detective sergeant must attend the PACE course (excluded are sworn officers who undergo the annual APT program).

The objectives of this course are to: acknowledge that biases exist within the Service and within our community, to examine the causes of these biases, attitudes, and behaviours, and to examine their impact on our personal and professional relationships.

In 2007, mandatory APT training for uniform front-line officers was discontinued and replaced by the Crisis Resolution Officer Safety (CROS) course. This change was largely a result of the Service's need to comply with the Provincial twelve month use of force re-qualification standard. Included in the CROS course are two 90-minute modules on human relations.

In order to ensure that non-front line officers also receive this training, a mandatory stand-alone diversity and current issues course, Policing & Community Expectations (PACE), was rolled out in 2007 as well. The PACE course ensures that sworn members who do not receive annual training on the CROS course receive the appropriate human relations training. In order to maintain consistency in diversity training, the course content on the PACE course mirrors the course content on the CROS course.

Training delivered on these courses is designed to assist officers in conducting their daily duties and interactions with the public in a professional, non-biased, and ethical manner. The importance of recognising and valuing diversity in our city is stressed. A strong emphasis is placed on the need to develop effective and accountable partnerships between the police and all communities, with the ultimate goal being to support and serve our communities with dignity and respect. Modules for 2007 included training on self awareness, LGBT issues, and community mobilisation.

The LGBT issues module was innovative in that training was co-facilitated between police instructors and LGBT community members. This training format provides a model of trust and partnership between the police and the community, which is visible to all who underwent this training; it sets an example of how the police and community can work together.

In order to assess transfer of learning for the PACE course, training supervisors were asked in 2008 to distribute and collect surveys during regularly scheduled training. Survey participants were officers assigned to investigative duties and who were graduates of courses offered in 2007. In addition, members attending courses at Training & Education were canvassed. In total, 344 responses were recorded.

Respondents indicated that they applied the knowledge gained in their training and listed how they used it. In the PACE survey, 41% of the respondents answered that they applied their knowledge, some in a LGBT capacity and others in a community mobilisation capacity. In answering how they applied their knowledge, areas such as awareness of LGBT issues, acting in a non-biased manner, and interacting with community members were identified.

PACE courses are intended to evolve and change from year to year based on Service priorities and changing community needs. In 2008, a new LGBT course was written and all members are required to complete this e-learning cultural competency module by the end of 2009. Other modules focusing on cultural competencies will be developed for future training.

◆ process for continuous Service member learning developed and implemented

24-7 Lecture available on the link site of e-mail	potentially all members

Advanced Leadership course	31 members
APT training	2,679 officers

during 2007: (as reported by the Training & Education unit)

- Development and practice of continuous learning has been ingrained in the philosophy of Training and Education for many years, as evidenced through the implementation of the

- Advanced Patrol Training (APT) Program, now referred to as Crisis Resolution and Officer Safety (CROS).
- In 2007, the Service approved start-up funding for the implementation and development of in-house e-learning courses. Hardware, software, and other resources were acquired, staff put into appropriate positions, and development was begun. These courses will be rolled out in 2008.
  - In 2007, the Service purchased licences for two Canadian Police Knowledge Network (CPKN) e-learning courses (Urban Gang Dynamics and General Investigator). Both these courses were piloted by serving members of TPS in 2007 and they gained excellent reviews. Acquisition of these licences will increase the Service's ability to engage officers in e-learning. Urban Gang Dynamics is part of CROS for 2008 and the number of members able to take the General Investigators course has been increased significantly.
  - In 2007, the Service also partnered with the CPKN to host e-learning developed by Toronto. E-learning materials will be rolled out in 2008, including titles such as 'Characteristics of an Armed Person' (part of CROS for 2008), 'Drinking and Driving', 'Cultural Competency', and others.
  - Access to e-learning remains available to members throughout the year; officers can use their courses as reference for future inquiries.
  - In 2007, the Service extended its partnership with Humber College and the University of Guelph Humber. This partnership enables members to pursue a Police Foundations Leadership Profile Diploma from Humber College and/or a Bachelor of Applied Science Degree in Justice Studies from the University of Guelph Humber. Enrolment in both programs is increasing.

during 2008: (as reported by the Training & Education unit)

The Service entered into a partnership with the University of Guelph and Humber College to offer a Diploma/Degree Leadership program for members. The first classes began in September 2006; its members included uniform and civilian staff who held the rank of staff/detective sergeant or civilian (class 8) and higher.

Universities and community colleges recognise prior learning and experience through a Prior Learning and Recognition (PLAR) process, with the result being the possibility of completing a college diploma and university degree in a much shorter period of time. Since the program credits specific professional and police training, the typical police officer needs to complete seven college and six university full credits to meet the requirements for a diploma and degree. All courses were, and continue to be, delivered on weekends and through distance education. Each degree course requires three weekends during a 14-week semester; there are three semesters per year. Members of Cohort One completed their university commitments in 2008 and are eligible to graduate in the spring of 2009.

In order to assess transfer of learning in 2008, all members of the Guelph Humber Degree Program (Cohort One) were sent an anonymous survey, and asked to complete it and submit it directly to Training & Education for analysis. In total, 32 officers were enrolled in Cohort One and 15 responses were returned.

Respondents indicated that they clearly applied the knowledge that they had gained to date and listed how they used it; there was transfer of learning. Members responded 100% of the time that they applied their knowledge in areas that included writing, criminological theory, social problems, and statistics. They further advised how they used their knowledge, which included applying theory to the social problems they encountered, writing reports, enhancing their formal communication practices with Service and community members, using critical analysis tools on the job, and approaching problems in a different manner.

2008 SERVICE PERFORMANCE – ADDITIONAL ADEQUACY STANDARDS REPORTING REQUIREMENTS

SERVICE BUDGET AND COST OF POLICING PER CAPITA:

In 2006, the Service's Council-approved net operating budget was $752.4 million, an increase of 5.1% over the 2005 net operating budget. The final Service favourable variance in 2006, as in 2005, was $6.1 million. The surplus was attributed to salary saving due to a higher number of separations than anticipated, savings in medical and dental benefits, decreased spending in computer maintenance accounts, and greater revenues than anticipated.

In 2007, the Service's Council-approved net operating budget was $784.95 million, an increase of 4.3% over the 2006 net operating budget.** The final Service favourable variance in 2007 was $6.8 million. The surplus was attributed to under-expenditures in court security costs, medical and dental benefits, computer maintenance accounts, city chargeback (mainly for utilities), and greater revenues than anticipated.

In 2008, the Service's Council-approved net operating budget was $798.3 million, an increase of 6.1% over the 2006 net operating budget and a 1.7% increase over the 2007 net operating budget.*** The net operating budget was increased further, to $822.0 million, to reflect the Interest Board of Arbitration award relating to the Toronto Police Association's collective agreement, settlement with the Senior Officer's Organisation, and corresponding increases to the excluded members and command officers. The final Service favourable operating budget variance in 2008 was $0.6 million. The surplus was attributed to higher than expected uniform separations, a surplus in civilian salaries, favourable variances in uniform and other materials categories, savings in the cleaning and clothing reimbursement accounts, and a lower charge-back from the city than anticipated for caretaking, maintenance, and utilities.

The figure to the right shows the estimated cost of policing per capita for 2006, 2007, and 2008.

Based on the net operating budget of $752.4 million and an estimated population of 2,724,784 the cost of policing per capita in 2006 was about $276.

Based on the net operating budget of $784.95 million and an estimated population of 2,750,360 the cost of policing per capita in 2007 was about $285.

And, based on the net operating budget of $822.0 million and an estimated population of 2,776,175 the cost of policing per capita in 2008 was about $296.

COMPLAINTS ABOUT POLICE SERVICE:

The total number of public complaints received increased 14.2% between 2006 and 2008, from 661 complaints in 2006 to 755 in 2008; 698 public complaints were received in 2007. Of the complaints received, 71.1% (470) were investigated in 2006, 57.4% (401) were investigated in 2007, and 58.1% (439) were investigated in 2008. In all years, the largest proportions of complaints not investigated were those deemed frivolous (63.9% in 2006, 70.4% in 2007, and 71.5% in 2008).

As shown in the following figure, in all years, the largest proportion of investigated complaints involved allegations of conduct of a less serious nature: 85.5% in 2006, 91.3% in 2007, and 87.9% in 2008. However, there was a 4.0% decrease between 2006 and 2008 in the actual number of less serious conduct complaints investigated.

* Information from Police Services Board Minute P115/07 (meeting of March 22, 2007).

** Information from Police Services Board Minute P66/08 (meeting of March 27, 2008).

*** Information from Police Services Board Agenda (meeting of March 30, 2009).

The proportion of serious conduct complaints investigated was relatively low in each of the past three years (12.3% in 2006, 6.5% in 2007, and 10.3% in 2008). The total number of investigated complaints related to serious conduct decreased 22.4% between 2006 and 2008.

Complaints relating to policy or service formed the smallest proportion of investigated complaints in all years (2.1% in 2006, 2.2% in 2007, and 1.8% in 2008).

With regard to the specific type of complaint, the largest proportion of investigated complaints in each year related to allegations of discreditable conduct (49.6% in 2006, 60.6% in 2007, and 62.4% in 2008).

As can be seen in the figure below, over half (54.5%) of the investigated complaints from 2006 were found unsubstantiated, while misconduct was identified in 2.6% of investigated complaints. Just under half (48.9%) of the investigated complaints from 2007 were found to be unsubstantiated, while misconduct was identified in 2.7%. And just over one-fifth (21.9%) of investigated complaints from 2008 were found unsubstantiated, while misconduct was identified in 1.8%. Informal resolution was the outcome of 13.2% of investigated complaints from 2006, 21.2% of investigated complaints from 2007, and 10.9% of investigated complaints from 2008. It should be noted that a large proportion of the 2008 investigations have not yet been completed (47.6%).
