

Public Safety
Canada

Sécurité publique
Canada

ARCHIVED - Archiving Content

Archived Content

Information identified as archived is provided for reference, research or recordkeeping purposes. It is not subject to the Government of Canada Web Standards and has not been altered or updated since it was archived. Please contact us to request a format other than those available.

ARCHIVÉE - Contenu archivé

Contenu archivé

L'information dont il est indiqué qu'elle est archivée est fournie à des fins de référence, de recherche ou de tenue de documents. Elle n'est pas assujettie aux normes Web du gouvernement du Canada et elle n'a pas été modifiée ou mise à jour depuis son archivage. Pour obtenir cette information dans un autre format, veuillez communiquer avec nous.

This document is archival in nature and is intended for those who wish to consult archival documents made available from the collection of Public Safety Canada.

Some of these documents are available in only one official language. Translation, to be provided by Public Safety Canada, is available upon request.

Le présent document a une valeur archivistique et fait partie des documents d'archives rendus disponibles par Sécurité publique Canada à ceux qui souhaitent consulter ces documents issus de sa collection.

Certains de ces documents ne sont disponibles que dans une langue officielle. Sécurité publique Canada fournira une traduction sur demande.

Stanhope 2013

Some Themes Emerging from Day One

Norm Taylor, Moderator

We do not appear to have a clear or consistent handle on the true cost of training – can this continue to be justified in an Economics of Policing world?

We have years of evidence that Technology Enhanced Learning and Blended Delivery can produce equivalent-or-better learning and/or performance outcomes at moderately-to-greatly reduced costs. Are we seizing upon this opportunity to the full extent available to us?

The Victoria Police experience demonstrates what can be achieved when truly faced with the power of consequence ...

There is significant innovation occurring across the country in police training and education. But, innovators need broader support ... and the collective policing community needs to benefit more fully from these innovations.

We all seem to recognize that the demands for continuous learning among police officers, civilian specialists, and police leaders continue to grow and strain the energies and capacities of individuals and agencies alike.

But, we appear to still accept obsolete methods within our education and training systems and in our finance and accounting systems ... because change is difficult??