Summary of Saskatoon facilities and services for the care of vulnerable citizens and persons who have not committed a crime but are detained for reasons of intoxication:

The three “snapshots” that follow – Historically, As At 2013, and Going Forward – reveal:

- More innovative means of serving vulnerable citizens have been implemented and continue to be developed in a teamwork-focused environment.
- Improved value for the resources applied is being achieved.
- Greater collaboration of service provision has become the norm.
- The significantly heightened collaboration is converting crisis responses into integrated, supportive responses.
- Common interests, common clients and common approaches are continuously being integrated.
- Improved and increased data and intelligence gathering is creating enhanced focus and resource alignment.
